HUMAN PRAME. Little Pepl Marco's Limbs Crushed Beneath a Dry-Dock Car-The Driver Arrested-He Told One Story to the Policeman and Another to the Court-" The Boy's All Right," Said the Company's Examining

Another case of devilish "bobtail." Take up your endgel in behalf of the poor immigrant boy who was so mercileasly run over on the corner of Columbia and Grand streets at 8.30 o'clock last night in the full glare of the electric light. It was another case of no conductor, fast driving and don't care a blame for the result.

Aug. 28.

THE EVENING WORLD'S correspondent was prompt in soliciting the championship by this paper of the cause of Pepi Marco, but THE EVENING WORLD Was even more prompt in offering it and had a reporter hard at work on the case before the above communication was received.

Pepi Marco is a poor little Italian boy, fifeen years of age, who was run over by Canal Street Jigger No. 9, of the Dry Dock and East Broadway Railway, last night, while crossing Grand street at Columbia street.

His right leg below the knee was broken in two places, his left thigh fractured, and he suffered other severe injuries.

John Murphy, of 372 Cherry street, who had undertaken to perform the duties required of a jigger-driver and had failed, was arrested by Officer John Crook, of the Delancey street station. He said that he did not see the boy, and this was the only excuse he offered.

lancey street station. He said that he did not see the boy, and this was the only excuse he offered.

Murray had another story to tell when he was arra gued before Judge Duffy, in Essex Market Police Court, this morning. He said that he was driving west and when at Columbia street young Marco ran directly under his horse's feet. He said that the boy was being chased by another and evidently did not see the car, which could not be stopped in time to prevent the accident.

House Surgeon Bird, of Gouverneur Hospital, where young Marco's broken bones were reset, certified that while his injuries were perhaps not fatal they are very serious.

Judge Duffy committed Murray without ball to await the result of the Italian boy's injuries, despite the efforts of Mr. Gilbert, the Dry Dock Rai way's "settler," who pays from $25 to $100 for the limbs and dres of poor east aiders sacrificed under the jigger juggernaut.

Mr. Gilbert produced Dr. Nichols, of East Broadway, the railway company's physician, to settly to young Marco's condition.

Mr. Gilbert produced Dr. Nichols, of East Broadway, the railway company's physician, to certify to young Marco's condition.

"The boy's all right," he said, "He has only a fracture of the leg."

"A fracture of the leg." repeated the lit-tle Judge, "I should say he had. His right leg broken in two places and his left hip shattered. I'll hold that man without bail until a better certificate than that is furnished."

The fa her was found on Grand street with two or three of his countrymen. He said that he came from Italy with his Pepi five months ago and has had no work since that time. The only money he has earned has been by peddling candy from a basket. He did not know how the accident occurred.

The injured boy speaks no English, and as yet the doctors at the hospital have not been able to get from him his story of the accident. M guelo Di Femmi, who is one of the proprietors of the fruit stand at the corner of Grand and Columbia streets, saw the accident and said that young Marco was crossing Grand street on a walk with his back to the car, which was approaching rapidly. He did not think that Murray, the driver, saw the boy, but he could not say what the driver was doing.

Pepi Marco was not playing with another boy and did not run under the horse.

BURGLARS AT BAY.

Four of Them Caught at Work Fight Decperately with Three Policemen.

Detective James Quirk, of the Delancey street station, discovered four burglars at work in the basement of Franz Alter's residence at 146 Rivington street, at an early hour this morning.

Alter buried a son yesterday, and he and his family were so tired that they alept soundly. Quirk went for assistance and returned with Policemen Krauch and and returned with Policemen Krauch and Bowen.

The three had a desperate hand-to-hand encounter with the burglars. One of them, Lawrence Gardner, drew a revolver and aimed it at Detective Quirk's head. He fired and missed, but before he could again pull the trigger the detective had him firmly clutched by the throat.

The detective drew his billy and beat the burglar almost into insensibility. Adam Keller also drew a revolver, which he aimed at Krauch, but the latter covered him with his own weapon and compelled him to surrounder.

The other burglars, John Thomas and Charles Walker, were armed with blunt in-struments, but they were not permuted by the officers to use them. When all was over Alter and his family awoke.

The burglars were arraigned at the Essex Market Police Court this morning, and Justice Duffy committed them without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Mr. Lapp is connected with the firm of Stearns & Spingarn, manufacturers and jobbers in millinery and straw goods, at 585 Broadway and 154 and 156 Mercer street.

He occupies the fifth flat of the Fifth street house, which is owned by Round-man Nealis, of the Fourteenth Precinct, and he has been living there for three years. His wife and daughter have been spinding the summer in the country, and Lapp and brother have only slept at home.

On returning home Friday evening Mr. Lapp discovered that his door leading into the hallway had been forced open with a jimmy and the contents of the rooms lay about in great confusion. Closets had been ranes ked, bureau drawers broken open and rifled and every recepticle wherein articles of value were supposed to have been kept was turned inside out.

An investigation of the premises disclosed the fact that the jewelry left behind by Mr. Lapp's wife had been carried off. It con-isted of two sets of diamond earrings, a gold chain and cross set with rubles, a heavy gold bracelet, with the inscription "E. P. to C. E. L." on the inside, a gold breastpin containing eight libine-stones and an emerald, two broastpins, a garnet necklace with gold lock and three pairs of cuff buttons. Besides this jewelry a large quantity of trinkets and brie-a-brac and clothing belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Lapp were taken along.

Immediately after the robbery Mr. Lapp were taken along. in choice patterns, both Knot Scarfs and Four-in-Hand at 48c. each.

A STRANGE PAIR FROM BALTIMORE. Last Night They Were at Odds, Which They Quickly Made Even To-Day.

A fashionably attired woman of twentyyears and a middle-aged man, whose appearance denoted financial solidity, attracted considerable attention in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning.

They sat i nside the railing, aloof from the common prisoners, and the 'man seemed to be in a very affectionate mood, for his hand clutched at the sleeve of the woman's gown as though he feared she might escape through a window.

Patrosio, who stood watching the pair, touched the woman on the shoulder and she sto d up before the magistrate, there compan on wore a sheepish look as he clutched the prisoners' rail and watched the duantity of trinkets and brie-a-prac and clothing belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Lapp were taken along.

Immediately after the robbery Mr. Lapp adjusted a patent padlock to his door to prevent a repetition of the burglar's visit.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning Miss Miller, who lives on the flat below, heard some one on Lapp's floor, and on going upstairs found a young man trying to pry off the lock from the door.

"What are you doing there?" asked the young woman, to which the fellow replied:

"Oh, I'm looking for a party."

Being aware of the operations of the burglar on the previous occasion, Miss Miller tred to intercept the fellow, but he pushed her roughly against the railing in the hallway and made his escape, running down stairs four steps at a time.

Miss Miller, in describing the man, said he was young, tall and thin; that he were eyeglasses and a gray suit of clothes. rocceedings.
The woman ambounced that she was Mrs.
John E. Moore, of Baltimore, and acknowledged that the solid-looking citizen was her husband.

Last night the pair were deposited in front of the Ninet-enth Precinct Station-House by Hugh McCabe, a hackman, who claimed that the man had refused to pay for his ride. In addition to this charge, the woman, who announced herself as Ida J. French, of Baltimore, said that the man had stolen a considerable amount of jewelry from her. ties to push forward the project of opening Stuyvesant Park to the public. Supt. Mc. Cormick, of the Bureau of Gas and Lamps, is negetiating with two electric lighting companies for the lighting of the park, and will probably decide to-day to which one it will be most advisable to award the contract.

This morning he visited Stuyvesant Park to make a preliminary survey for the lamps and posts to be erected and to decide how many would be necessary for the purpose, and make such arrangements that there will be no delay in carrying out the work when the Gas Commission authorize it to be begun.

The Mayor will appoint a day for the meeting of the Comm solon, either next Monday or Tuesday, and the erection of the plant necessary for the lighting of the park will not require more than a day or two, for both companies declare that they can put in the lights immediately.

The Evening Wolld can safely provided.

The Evening World can safely promise the people, who are watching with so much interest the outcome of its efforts to secure this great berefit to the public, that they will have the freedom of Stuyvesant Park by Sept. 1. At least this is what Supt. McCormick thinks, and he is in a position to know more about it than almost any one else in town.

ing he was drunk, the officer approached and prodded him with his night stick. The man raised his head, and at the same moment Officer Cotton noticed that he was surrounded by a pool of blood,

"I'm sorry you came so soon," said the man, with a slight Irish brogue. " If you had waited a minute it would have been all right."

On the door-stone lay a razor, which the officer seized, after which he burried to a signal station and called an ambulance. The man was taken to Chambers Street

He was sixty-three years old, neatly dressed in black, and wore a light overcoat. He had made one gash across his throat about four inches long, and had inflicted two smaller wounds under his chin. In his pockets was found a single cent and

In his pockets was found a single cent and an account book.

He wore a full red beard, and when it was shaved off to give House Surgeon Ruffin an opportunity to dress the wounds, a kindly, gentle face was revealed. The surgeon spent two hours over the injured man, and finally succeeded in stopping the flow of blood and sticking the wounds. stitching the wounds. The man was very weak from loss of blood but could articulate, though with much diffi

He said he was Jeffrey Welsh, and that he had been boarding at 23 Montgomery street, Jersey City: that he came to America four months ago and had $200 when he landed.
He was a shipwright by occupation, but could find no employment.

He had speculated with his money and had lost it all. He was discouraged and resolved los: it all. He was discouraged and resolved to en his life. He said he was single and had but one rehation in the world, a brother, who was in business at Glasgow, Scotland.

'I am sorry I cut me, but wish I had done a better job," he gasped, and then Dr. Ruffin forbid his further attempting to talk.

This morning it was thought doubtful if he recovered.

At 23 Montgomery street, Jersey City, Landlord Francis Brock said that the old man had boarded with him only a month, and had been out of work the whole time. For three days he has not shown up, and he owes $1.50 for his last week's board. Lewis is an Irishman who has been in the country four months, and is a shipwright by profession. Dr. Harris, of Chambers Street Hospital, says he will recover. Cost Him a Pile of Money.

John Schultz, a guest at the Grand Union Hotel, met Jennie Sherwood, of 157 East One Hungred and Seventh street, on Tuirty-second street, late iast night, and they adjourned to a neighboring place of refreshment. When they left he found that he had been robbed of $200. He had Jennie arrested, and she was held for examination in the Jefferson Market Court to-day.

of furnishing for the people homes with the money they now waste in useless luxuries. No man is poor who lives in his own home, however humble, independent of rents and landlords. How is this done? you ask. Why, nothing so easy. Any industrious mechanic, clerk or salaried man or woman can save a little by doing without some luxury, as a few cigars or glasses of beer less. Add an hour to day labor or omit amusements for a time---16 cents a day is $5 a month, and 33 cents a day $10 a month---and with this amount saved you can buy choice, accessible.healthy building lots, and as soon as your lot is paid for you can get a builder's loan, which you can repay with the money you now pay for rent. Jere. Johnson has furnished thousands with such home sites, and now gives you choice of four locations.
